Hi, I'm Kevin from Malaysia.

I was learning website skill since 2010, before graduate from university I had learn some basic PHP, jQuery, and I was intend to become a PHP Developer, at the last semester in my university, I went to Taipei for intern, although I was applied "PHP Developer", but actually the job was doing full stack, and after finished my intern I felt that Front-end is more interesting than Back-end, so I decided to become a Front-end Developer after graduated, and began to learn some modern JS skills such as Angular.js, Node.js, ES6 and etc.

After that I worked in a Taipei's company, my main work was maintain the official website and there got limitation for learning new technologies, so I quit the job and went to Philippines.

In here, I had learn many things like the OOP of JS, React.js, ES6, WebPack, but the company insisted to support IE8, so there are many modern skill cannot be use such as Angular.js 2, Vue.js, CSS3, HTML5 and etc.

I hope that I could find a job that no need to support older browser, and can make me learn more things!
